

You are invited to a gathering in Berkeley with:

Siegfried Finser

For conversation about his inspiring books:

Footprints of an Angel,
Money Can Heal,

children's books and about Waldorf enrollment and his newly released trilogy of:

- COLLISION: The battle between unscrupulous intellect and caring heart is poignantly portrayed as the president of PTP Corporation ruthlessly secures acquisition of AIC Corporation. He is so smart, his subordinates hardly know how to interpret his commands and often fall short. Stockholders love him, but there may be failure amidst his achievements. The lovely, kindhearted Lucinda Brahm loses her job but gains what is most precious to her. And a young couple find each other in spite of intrigues and old secrets as they escape overshadowing evil and survive to fight again on their own terms. Light and dark, warm and cold intersect as the key figures collide in the struggle for power.
- LONELY EXPIATION: Armand Dillon, the evil master mind of PTP Inc. reaches the pinnacle of success and is still not satisfied. Manipulating friends and enemies, he attempts social acceptance in upper class culture using tricks that won him business success. Just when he thinks he is succeeding he's undone by strange qualities he doesn't know how to overcome—the innocent love of children, adult strength, character, and balanced idealism, The surprise ending is a puzzle of human nature.
- CRISIS AT THE THRESHOLD: From his prison cell, Armand Dillon designs a plot to defeat his enemies and regain prominence by soliciting the help of convicts up for parole. Other characters face crossroads of new careers, possible betrayals and great challenges. Rachel, Armand's long-suffering ex-wife has mysterious spiritual experiences that test her sanity and beliefs. Through study and meditation, she approaches spiritual initiation and lives through a threshold crisis. Waldorf education, Rudolf Steiner and Anthroposophy come to her aid and move into the mainstream of human experience. Emily, is a nine-year-old heroine who demonstrates remarkable courage and discernment as the twelve characters move forward in their development and destinies.
